

Bradley A. Boucher, Pharm.D., FCCP, FNAP, MCCM

Dr. Bradley A. Boucher is currently Professor of Clinical Pharmacy and Translational Science, and Associate Dean for Strategic Initiatives and Operations at the University of Tennessee College of Pharmacy in Memphis, Tennessee. He practices in the area of critical care at Regional One Health. Dr. Boucher has published more than 90 peer-reviewed articles and 35 book chapters during his career.

Dr. Boucher received his B.S. and Pharm.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota, in 1979 and 1983, respectively. Thereafter in 1984, he completed an American Society of Health-System Pharmacists critical care fellowship at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Kentucky. Dr. Boucher became board certified in pharmacotherapy in 1992. He was elected as a Fellow of ACCP in 1998 and Master of Critical Care Medicine of the American College of Critical Care Medicine in 2015. In 2004, Dr. Boucher distinguished himself by being elected as a pharmacy member of the National Academy of Practitioners. In addition, Dr. Boucher received the 2011 ACCP Clinical Practice Award.

Relative to professional service, Dr. Boucher served as the president of ACCP in 2002 and received the ACCP Service Award in 2004. In 2016-2018, Dr. Boucher served as the President of the National Rho Chi Honor Society. Prior to that, he served as Rho Chi Regional Councilor for Region 3 from 2011-2014. Dr. Boucher has been the faculty advisor at the UTHSC College of Pharmacy Alpha Nu Chapter since 2000.