

Sarah A. Spinler, PharmD, FCCP, FAHA, FASHP, FCPP, AACC

Dr. Spinler is Professor (with tenure), Department of Pharmacy Practice, Binghamton University School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences. She is also Professor Emeritus, Philadelphia College of Pharmacy (PCP), St Joseph's University in Philadelphia and Adjunct Professor, Cardiovascular Division, Department of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Spinler received her Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Pharmacy degrees from the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. She completed a pharmacy residency and research fellowship in cardiovascular critical care pharmacy at the University of Illinois at Chicago. From 2018 to 2024 she served as Department Chair, Pharmacy Practice, Binghamton University School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences.

Dr. Spinler has served as a cardiology research fellowship, PGY-1 residency and PGY2 cardiology residency program director for 15 trainees and oversaw the pharmaceutical industry fellowship program at PCP/USciences for 8 years. Her research focus is antithrombotic therapy for atherosclerotic disease and acute coronary syndrome.

She has authored more than 300 research articles, reviews, and book chapters and given more than 450 continuing education programs in the area of acute coronary syndromes, venous thromboembolism, antiplatelets, and anticoagulants. She has served as a co-author on several American Heart Association (AHA) and American College of Cardiology (ACC) Clinical Decision Pathway and Scientific Statement practice guidelines. In 2004, Dr. Spinler received the American Society of Health System Pharmacists (ASHP's) Award for Sustained Contributions to the Literature of Pharmacy Practice.

She currently serves on the editorial boards of several biomedical journals including Annals of Pharmacotherapy, Pharmacotherapy, American Journal of Managed Care, and Drugs. Most recently she was one of five co-authors who jointly received the 2024 Rufus A. Lyman Award from the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy for the best paper published in the American Journal of Pharmaceutical Education.

She served in several leadership positions in the American College of Clinical Pharmacy including Chair of both the Cardiology Practice Research Network of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy and their Education and Training PRN, and Regent on their Board of Directors from 2004-2007. In 2019, she received the ACCP Cardiology PRN Lifetime Achievement Award and in 2025, ACCP's Clinical Practice Award.

She continues to serve on several ASHP committees, including national grant and award selection committees, and most recently, was appointed to the ASHP Research Foundation Advisory Council.

She was named a Fellow in 4 organizations, the AHA Cardiovascular Clinical Council, inaugural AHA Quality of Care and Outcomes Research Council, ASHP, ACCP and the Philadelphia College of Physicians. She is also an Associate of the American College of Cardiology (ACC).